ABOUT MANUFACTURING TODAY

There have been several compelling reasons to love manufacturing – as this is perhaps the only industry that offers products that are real and has for centuries been the mainstay of countries and global economies – but the space is set to become all the more exciting with the increasing push to develop supply chain and manufacture products as much as possible locally.

India is one of the fastest-growing major economies and is currently ranked as the world's third-largest economy. The current structure of the economy and the emerging dynamics provide us grounds to target achieving 1 trillion dollars from agriculture and allied activities, 1 trillion from manufacturing and 3 trillion from services.

The manufacturing sector will play a key role in India's development as the nation grows more urban and industrialised by providing jobs to a broad spectrum of workers and spurring income growth across different segments of the population.

ABOUT MANUFACTURING TODAY

With a close eye on all the latest developments, Manufacturing Today will continue to offer knowledge and information that comes from industry subject matter experts who have been in the field for years, coupled with an incisive look into technology and processes, which is what the sector is all about today.

For an industry that has gone global, this premium B-2-B publication offers content that keeps up with the changing times and helps update manufacturing professionals about the new and the latest in the industry.

Manufacturing Today reaches key decision-makers and is circulated across the country with content that contains insights and updates, interviews, analysis and well-directed research. The spectrum of industries covered are: Automation, automotive, auto components, aviation, chemicals, dies & moulds, electronics & electricals, equipment manufacturing, heavy engineering, hydraulics & pneumatics, SCM, machine tools, material handling, oil & gas, plastics & polymers, among others.
